DETAILED ACTIONContinued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12/17/04 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

Claims 33 and 35-41 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 11/24/03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 26-28, 30, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The subject matter not described in the original specification are the different ways, in the dependent claims, to detect an "error in a change" in the first state of the at least one programmable parameter to a second state, such as detecting an expiration of energy, use of a magnetic signal, etc. The original specification on page 10, lines 8-21 discusses logging when the reset program is executed and detecting an error when parameter values and/or states are not within acceptable ranges, but does not state that it is used with the different ways to detect an error. This rejection is related to new matter.

Claims 23, 26-30, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not contain any description of how the dependent claims detect an error in change of the programmable parameters from a first state to a second state. For example, claims 27 and 30 state an error in change includes detecting expiration of battery energy or use of a magnetic signal to control operation. It is unclear how you detect an error in change of a magnetic signal that was not accidentally used but purposely used to control operation, or how the expiration of battery energy is an error in change. The state of the prior art, the level of one of ordinary skill, and/or the level of predictability in the art do not provide any knowledge or teaching on how to detect an error in change in a first state of a programmable parameter to a second state for those claims. This rejection is related to enablement.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 22, 24, 25, 31, 42, and 43 are allowed.
